

Abstract of the Disclosure

An apparatus capable of tracking a sample surface level in a z direction and oscillating a cantilever at resonant frequency by using a frequency separation scheme in non-contact mode and method thereof. The inventive apparatus includes a sensing unit for sensing a sample surface; a frequency transforming unit for transforming the sensed signal; a frequency combining unit for combining signals; and an actuating unit for actuating the sensing unit.